

Save Time with AO's Online Questionnaires

Fort Collins - December 15, 2010 - Association Online™ releases another valuable tool, benefiting HOA managers and lenders.

In our current economic environment, lender questionnaires (aka condo questionnaires) have become one of the largest pain points HOA managers experience. The requested number of disclosures has increased significantly, and the process is ridden with inefficiency – hand-written paper reports and fax responses. The forms are taking longer and longer to complete, and managers are becoming more and more concerned about what they are asked to attest to. Lenders wrestle with getting what they need in a timely fashion. Association Online™ is pleased to come to the rescue!

Association Online™'s patent-pending, online Lender Questionnaire provides the answer to this difficult problem. Managers save time with the semi-automated form. They easily review and update data that changes regularly, and rest easy knowing they are properly disclosing all that is required.

Lenders appreciate the convenience of the online process. They no longer have to hunt for the right contact and mess with hand-written forms. They get what they need, in an easy-to-read format, and without delay. The convenient process speeds managers' response.

The data provided addresses all the legal requirements and more, built from an evaluation of many lenders' forms. Lenders who require their own forms can request a customized report in their own format. And, lenders can always petition for new questions to be added.
